A Look into the Future

February's fieldtrip is to the nation's garden, the National Botanic Garden in Washington DC. The USBG includes the Conservatory, National Garden, and Bartholdi Park. The Conservatory features a variety of living exhibits, including seasonal exhibits. Approximately 4,000 plants are on display. The National Garden features plants native to the Mid-Atlantic region, as well as a Butterfly Garden, Rose Garden, First Ladies Water Garden. Bartholdi Park is an outdoor garden demonstration landscape and includes the historic Bartholdi Fountain. Admission to all public areas of the U.S. Botanic Garden (USBG) is free. The Conservatory is open 10 AM - 5 PM everyday. The new National Garden, located immediately west of the Conservatory, will be open 10 AM - 5PM. Visitors are welcome in Bartholdi Park from dawn until dusk. The use of a tripod, mounted lighting, reflectors, or other equipment requires a permit. Permits may be obtained by calling 202-225-8333.

"Hawaii" at the USBG

The Oasis in the Conservatory's southeast corner is becoming "Hawaii". It will feature many of the rare and endangered plants from our 50th anniversary.

An Alphabet Garden of Orchids, the exhibit will feature hundred exquisite orchids -- including many rare and endangered species -- the collections of both institutions.

Around Town

The Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington DC is exhibiting two photography exhibits.

Annie Leibovitz: A Photographer's Life, 1990—2005
October 13, 2007 — January 13, 2008

Ansel Adams
Through January 27, 2008

The Corcoran Gallery of Art is located at 500 Seventeenth Street N Washington, DC. The Corcoran is just a few blocks away from two convenient stations: Farragut West- on the Orange/Blue lines (take 17th street exit) and Farragut North-on the Red line (take the K Street exit).
