Appreciation

A special thanks goes out to our December judges Cheryl Crumm and Glenn Thompson. These individuals have been gracious enough to come judge and/or give programs to the ACC. Without them, we couldn't have a club.

Exhibit

On February 3 at 1:00PM we will take down our exhibit at the Glen Burnie Library. Each club member that has images hanging in the exhibit will need to retrieve them.

Tricolor Ribbons

During a contest, when all three of a club member's photos win a ribbon, we award them a special red, white, and blue tricolor ribbon. During October we had one club member who not only won one tricolor ribbon but two. All six of his images won.

Upcoming Programs

Winter Nature Photography Hotspots

On February 6th please join Barbara Saffir, nature photographer, author of “Walking Washington, DC,” and Virginia Master Naturalist for her slide talk on “Winter Nature Photography Hotspots in the Mid-Atlantic.”

Saffir says “Winter is NOT the time for nature photographers to hibernate!” She’ll help you discover some of the mid-Atlantic’s winter nature photography hotspots and spectacles. She’ll show you some of the best places to photograph close-up eagles’ nests, flying squirrels with big eyes that can steal your hearts, winter-blooming flowers that smell sweeter than gardenias, colorful ducks that winter in the DMV, gobs of geese, and more. She’ll also address some of the challenges and many benefits of photographing outdoors in the winter.

Saffir is a former reporter, political researcher, and architectural critic who worked for the Washington Post, the Orlando Sentinel and other publications. She now leads Sierra Club hikes, conducts book talks, and runs photo excursions through the “Nature Photography DC/MD/VA Meetup” she founded. Saffir adores sharing her passions of trail running and hiking along with her love of nature -- particularly photographing her beloved birds.

On February 20th please join Kelly Schneider, professional portraiture photographer for a talk on “Low Light Portrait Photography.” Kelly is a 29 year US Navy veteran having traveled to 137 countries where he became aware of his passion for photography and “capturing” the life around him.

In 2010, Kelly his wife started the family photography business focusing on weddings and portraiture/Boudoir. Over time, he has become passionate about teaching others and he has earned a Masters Training Specialist designation from the US Navy and earned a Master’s degree in Human Systems Integration from the Navy Post Graduate School in Monterey California.

Kelly continues to develop his photography skills and strongly believes in constantly learning and invests in himself through attendance at 2-3 learning workshops/events each year.

Over the past few years, Kelly and his wife Kalina (also a gifted photographer and active PPA member/MDPPA member) has been hosting workshops both in the US and in Europe. The family photography business has recently changed its name to Kelly Schneider Fine Arts (ksfinearts.com) and focuses on Boudoir and Fine Art portraiture and workshops.

Kelly is currently writing his first book on “The Salient Portrait – the science behind it and how to achieve it” and is a core element of all his workshops and training events.

Kelly is married Mrs. Kalina Schneider from Katowice Poland. Kalina and Kelly currently call Accokeek MD with their two kids – a beagle and a terrier!

Anna Atkins

On December 18th a few club members made a trip to the New York Public Library in New York City to see the exhibit on Anna Atkins. Atkins, who lived from 1799 to 1871, was an English Botanist who is credited with being the first person to publish a book using photographic images. She is also widely believed to be the first woman photographer as well due to her father's friendship with William Henry

Chris Milleker

Chris Milleker

Fox Talbot, inventor of the Calotype process.

Her book, "Photographs of British Algae" was created in 1843 which included photograms of plant specimens using the Cyanotype process invented by family friend, Sir John Herschel a year prior.

The Cyanotype process is a relatively safe alternative process we use for kids' workshops that involves mixing two chemicals, coating this solution on a piece of paper and then allowing it to dry in the dark. Once dried, the paper is exposed in sunlight and developed in plain water. Easy to learn and difficult to master, Cyanotypes can be made very simple or take on many different advanced variants including substrates, developers and toning, to name a few.

Blue Prints: The Pioneering Photographs of Anna Atkins is on exhibit in the Wachenheim Gallery of the New York Public Library until February 17th 2019. A second exhibit showcasing contemporary works in and inspired by the Cyanotype process is located in the Rayner Special Collections Wing & Print Gallery until January 6th, 2019.

Feb 23: Studio Outing

On Saturday February 23, club members will converge on Chip Bulgin's studio in Baltimore where we can shoot table top still life, portraits of each other, models, discuss post processing, and do lighting tutorials. Address: 3500 Parkdale Ave. Baltimore, MD 21211.

The building is on the right-hand side of the street. It's an old 3 story brick building that used to be a mill. There is a parking lot just past the building up a concrete ramp that has approximately 10 spaces. There is also parking on the street.

We will be doing studio photography with strobe lighting. We will have several stations/sets available for photographing both human and still-life type objects. Feel free to bring your own lights if you have them. Also feel free to bring stuff and/or people to photograph. You will need a camera with a hot-shoe and a short prime (fixed) or telephoto lens. Something like an 18-55mm, 50mm, 85mm, 18-135mm, and the like should be perfect.

For tabletop club members will bring their cameras and stuff to photograph. Flowers and food are always popular. If you have strobes bring them. Also backdrops and tablecloths can be useful. Unlimited members will work with novice members to share tips and tricks to improve their still life and macro photography.

If you are attending or have any questions, please send an email to our club Chip at president@arundelcameraclub.org.

Club Information

Meeting Nights

The Arundel Camera Club meets every Wednesday evening when school is in session and weather permitting. We only meet if the School is open. Check for school closings at the following link <http://www.aacps.org/>.

We meet at 7:00 p.m. and usually end before 9:00 p.m. The school doors are locked. We man the doors until 7:00 p.m.. It is important to be there by then to gain entrance to the school. Meetings are open to the public, but only dues paying members may enter competitions.

Meetings alternate with programs of informative speakers and photographic competitions. Competitions give us a chance to show off our work and to get constructive critiques from our judges. Ribbons are awarded for first through fourth place and honorable mention. We have competitions for slides, color prints, monochrome prints, and digital images. Competitions are held for both novice and unlimited club members. Awards are awarded at the end of year banquet.

The club also has monthly photographic field trips to locations of interest. This is a chance to go out and practice what we learned during programs, a time to socialize with other club members, and a chance to do a little photographic exploration.
